2013 CALIFORNIA BUILDING CODE, TITLE 24, PART 2

The California Building Code (CBC) contains general building design and construction requirements relating to fire and life safety, structural safety, and access compliance. CBC provisions provide minimum standards to safeguard life or limb, health, property, and public welfare by regulating and controlling the design, construction, quality of materials, use and occupancy, location, and maintenance of all buildings and structures and certain equipment. Matrix Adoption tables are provided at the beginning of every chapter in Part 2 to indicate which chapters and sections are adopted by state agencies (for application to their respective occupancies). This 2-volume set is a fully integrated code based on the 2012 International Building Code®.

2013 CALIFORNIA RESIDENTIAL CODE, TITLE 24, PART 2.5

The California Residential Code (CRC) contains building provisions that cover construction of one- and two-family dwellings and townhouses that are three stories or fewer. California amendments provide consistency with model-code format, state and federal laws and regulations, and unique California conditions with regard to the construction of one- and two-family dwellings and townhouses. This code does not include Energy, Mechanical, Plumbing, or Electrical standards, which are found in other parts of Title 24. This is a fully integrated code based on the 2012 International Residential Code® (Chapters 2-10).

INCLUSIVE DESIGN GUIDELINES: NEW YORK CITY

This publication helps designers produce multisensory enhanced environments accommodating a wide range of physical and mental abilities for people of all ages. A companion document to the New York City Building Code, yet it also functions as a stand-alone publication. In harmonizing the book with both the New York City Building Code and ICC/ANSI A117.1-2003, it's easy to find and compare corresponding legal requirements.
